

Sam A. Student - your name.
Mrs. Whelan - teacher's name
English 111 - class
8 December 2016 - date due

MLA
Heading

TOPIC SENTENCE

another general sentence about relationships my character has.

Charlie's sister has difficult and complicated relationships with others. In the beginning of the novel, she is rather coarse and mean to Charlie, but as she matures, she becomes a good big sister to him. One of the reasons Charlie's sister has such a hard time with others is because she is not easy to starting to give background for my first example get along with. When she and her boy friend are at Charlie's house, she gives mixed signals to her boyfriend and tries to order him around, and when he hits her, she seems to like it. That sort of behavior explaining how she is complicated cannot be easily understood. When her parents demand she never see the boy again, she responds, "He's my whole world" (Chbosky 25). By saying this, Charlie's sister reveals just how complicated her thinking can be. Loving someone who abuses you hardly seems logical or good for you. She does grow

Lead in - giving context to my quote

EXPLAIN IN 1-2 SENTENCES how this quote supports my topic sent. unpacking quote

Background for my 2nd example up after this, and realizes she deserves better, and starts to treat Charlie with kindness. Even though earlier in the book she told Charlie she hated him, later, after Charlie takes her to the clinic, she tells

Lead in - giving context to my quote

EXPLAIN how quote supports my topic sent him: "I really do love you, Charlie" (Chbosky 122). These sort of complex and conflicting behaviors and words illustrate how knowing someone like Charlie's sister can be very difficult. It's hard to be friends with someone who is so unpredictable. Charlie's sister complicates her relationships with friends and family.

CONCLUDING SENT

REMINDERS:

- 12 pt Times New Roman Font
- Double spaced